

CORPORATE SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Help empower educational, scientific and social innovation!

ABOUT US

Pathways to Stem Cell Science (Pathways) is a biotech-based non-profit research and education institute. We provide private sector solutions to unmet needs in biomedical research and education, combining the quality of a university with the efficiency of a company.

Our research support and professional training services help scientists from around the world translate stem cells into commercial and therapeutic applications. Our STEM education programs lower the barrier to developing bioscience careers by providing the hands-on skills, professional experiences and career education students need to become professional scientists but cannot gain in school or college.

Unique in every way, Pathways is the world's only industry-based STEM education program supporting students of all ages, Pre-K to college. Our proprietary courses enable aspiring scientists to gain real-world skills and knowledge working hands-on in professional labs with actual stem cells.

We also promote social equality, workforce development, scientific diversity and economic prosperity by empowering students from all socioeconomic backgrounds to better their lives through advanced STEM education and high-paying bioscience jobs.

By associating with our cutting-edge program, your company will enjoy tailored benefits that transcend traditional brand-recognition.
